VERIFIABLE SCIENCE

This combination of herbal extracts, caprylic acid and calcium undecylenate promotes a healthy environment for microflora in the colon and intestinal tract. Undecylenic acid and caprylic acid are fatty acids that promote a favorable environment for beneficial microflora.<sup>1</sup> Calcium and magnesium act as buffers and may also help slow the dispersion and release of undecylenic acid and caprylic acid to support activity throughout the gastrointestinal tract.<sup>2</sup> Grapefruit seed extract and berberine sulfate support microbial balance.<sup>3</sup> Research suggests that they promote a healthy G.I. environment when exposed to a wide range of bacterial biotypes.<sup>4†</sup>
